wow! golly! what is this strange aura surrounding these mystical figures? i know! they're the gods from mount olympus! there's zeus, and apollo and aphro . . . uh aphro . . . oh well. this is real neat!

hmmm . . . intrapersonal conversation, inability to perceive reality, pronounced deficiency in retaining data, absence of civilized vocabulary, definitely a freshman.

hey! this must be the new fashion craze! no, don't tell me. designer hair by vidal sassoon, jumpsuits from the gloria vanderbilt collection . . .

don't forget the izod balloons well, i think i'll take my bike out for a spin around campus.

hey! wait up! yesterday i was being pursued by the military police after i accidentally ripped their rhino off my bike and hurled it into the face of their leader. i finally escaped by scaling nevins' wall and hiding behind the dome. but man was i shocked when i got up there. i found a pile of human bones!

oh. i guess you haven't heard the story of daniel the wayward student. after blowing up the chemistry lab, writing a theme containing forty-two comma splices, turning in a sociological study entitled cannibalism among punk rockers and creating a watercolor which he christened nude in anarctica, several professors got together in a plot to eliminate the deviant student. they apprehended the villain and transported him to nevins roof where one by one huge incomprehensible books were dropped on him by the enraged professors until he . . . well all that remains of daniel are his lifeless bones.

REGISTRATION AT V.S.C.

This year's registration was somewhat more organized. The only problem was for the sophomores who had to put up with taking second choice to the upcoming freshman both fall and spring quarter.

BAILEY'S BLAST

The Baileys' sponsored 2 parties this year for the student body. They were the Popcorn and Cider party on October 1, 1981 and the Christmas Tree Lighting on December 3, 1981. Both functions were held at the Baileys' home with music provided by the VSC Jazz Ensemble, Brass Ensemble, and Chamber Singers.

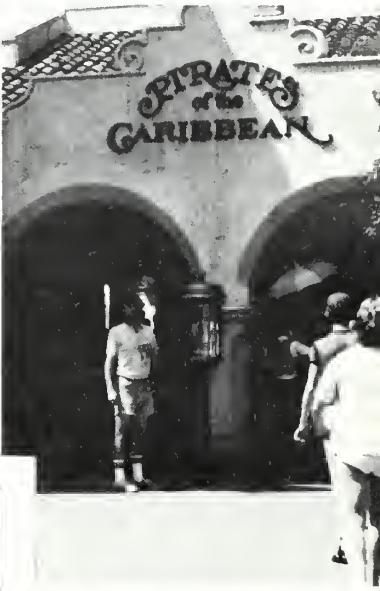
VSC's
Spring Fling

Everybody loves a "Spring Fling" once in a while and students at VSC enjoyed one in May. Sponsored by the College Union Board, the event featured a Dunkin' Sam Booth, a pie throwing booth, and several college bands providing the music. The CUB hopes that this is the first of what will become an annual event.

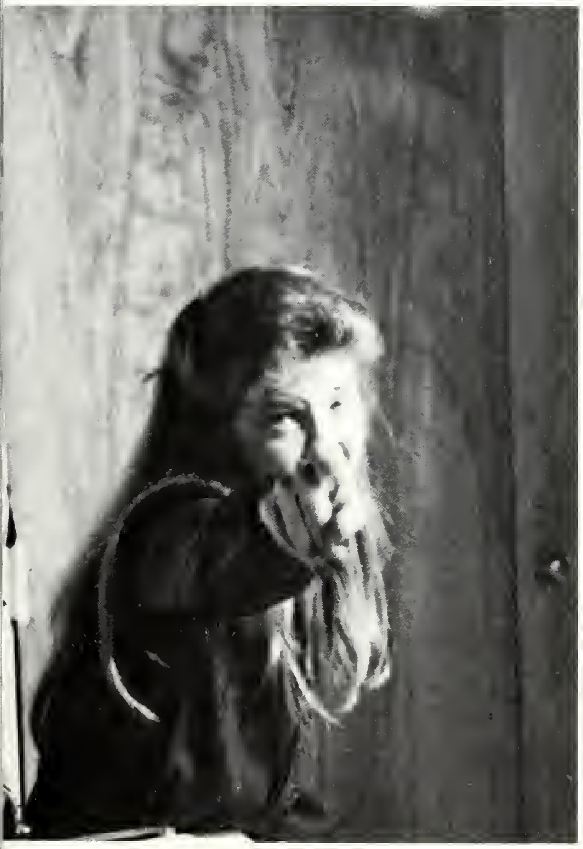
DISNEY WORLD

In the great Disney tradition, fun was had by all who went on this year's trip. Disney World is for the young and old, because everybody is young at heart.



PARTIES

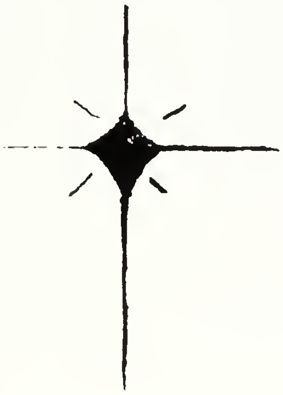
VSC students often find the time to break away from their studies to socialize with friends. Sororities and fraternities provide many of the parties that go on around campus.



V.S.C. PRESENTS AMAHL

The Valdosta State College Opera Theatre presented "Amahl and the Night Visitors" at the Park Avenue United Methodist Church on November 29. The popular Christmas classic was under the direction of Carol Mikkelsen, a faculty member of the V.S.C. music department. The V.S.C. students who were in the play were Lesley Jones, Debi Chandler, Stan Smith, Harry Graves, Randy Words, Allen Johnston, Terri Hatcher and Rick D'Onofrio.

"Amahl and the Night Visitors" is a one-act opera by the American composer Gian-Carlo Menotti. It was the first opera commissioned especially for television, and was given its première by the N.B.C. Television Opera Theatre in 1951. It is a fictional dramatization of one particular night during the pilgrimage of the three Wise Men to the Christ Child



Special thanks to the Drama Department of South Georgia College for the use of their costumes.

WALTZ OF THE TORREADORS

The "Waltz of the Torreadors", a story about a retired french general with young ideas, is the mainstage offering of the V.S.C. theatre winter qtr. The play ran from February 17-27. Jerry Orr and Susan Colman played the leading roles. They were assisted by Bill Abbott, Nadine Aldridge, Beth Daugherty, Philip Howard, Martha Stewert, Laurie Wilkes, Jamie Allen, Austin McDonald and Liz Henderson.

A SERVENT OF TWO MASTERS

This fall mainstage play lasted from October 28 to November 3. The crowd seemed to love every moment of the entire performance.

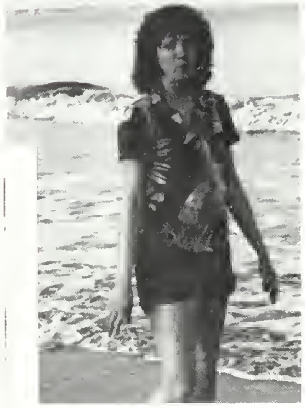
Romeo and Juliet will be presented in two acts with a fifteen minute intermission between acts.

The ever popular "Romeo and Juliet" was the mainstage offering of the V.S.C. theatre scheduled in May. The director Randy Wheeler said " 'Romeo and Juliet' is the second most popular Shakespearian play. The power and romantic appeal of 'Romeo and Juliet' have inspired music for operas, symphonies and ballets. It is a very romantic production in which the nature of first love is examined. It's as if Shakespeare had taken that first overpowering moment of falling in love and extended it through the play. There is a great deal of comedy, tension and grief expressed in the play, which makes it a great challenge for me as well as the actors."

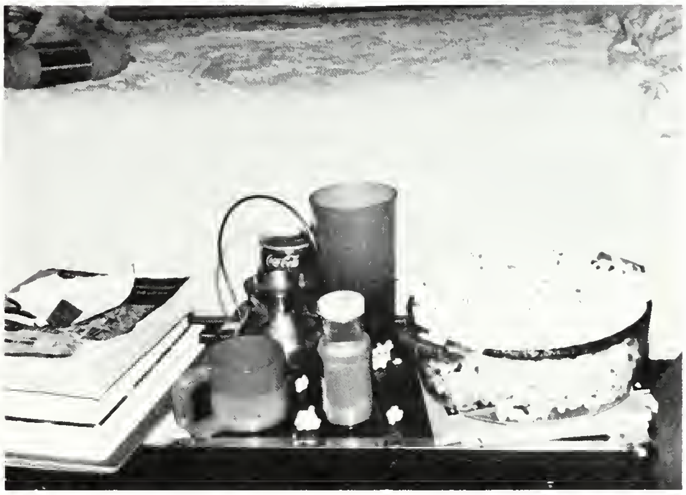
BEACH
TRIP

This is the time of year for V.S.C. students to go out and increase their tans while they decrease their money. Panama City Beach was as pretty and expensive as it always is.



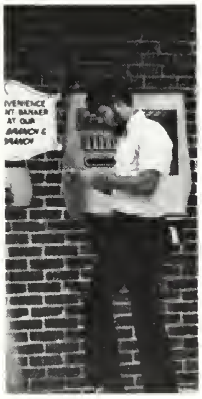
DORM LIFE

If you can live in a cube, then the dorm should be your cup of tea. Dorm life can yield a sense of companionship as well as a good atmosphere for studying when the noise level is below 150 decibels.



APARTMENT LIFE

When it comes to the point you cannot stand cubic life anymore, you may consider renting an apartment or house. This change can give you freedom from the ever-present juvenile dorm rules.



ARE YOU WORKING HARD?

NO, HARDLY WORKING!

The Day I Should Have Stayed In Bed

Everybody has them. The day when you're bowled over by someone dashing out of the College Union Building door, when you're history professor asks you to recite the events leading up to WWII, when the cafeteria serves Chef's surprise, when it starts storming just as you were stepping out of the Fine Arts Building on your way back to Reade Hall . . . the day when that miserable excuse for a bed in your dorm room would have been very comfortable.

LUXURY DINING

The food found in these places are for students with a zest for life, and girlfriends with expensive tastes. Just hope your wallet is full of money, because it will disappear as fast as you can bring it out.

FAST FOOD

Burger Chef
Drive Thru

Kentucky Fried Chicken

Charbroil Burgers

SHONEY'S

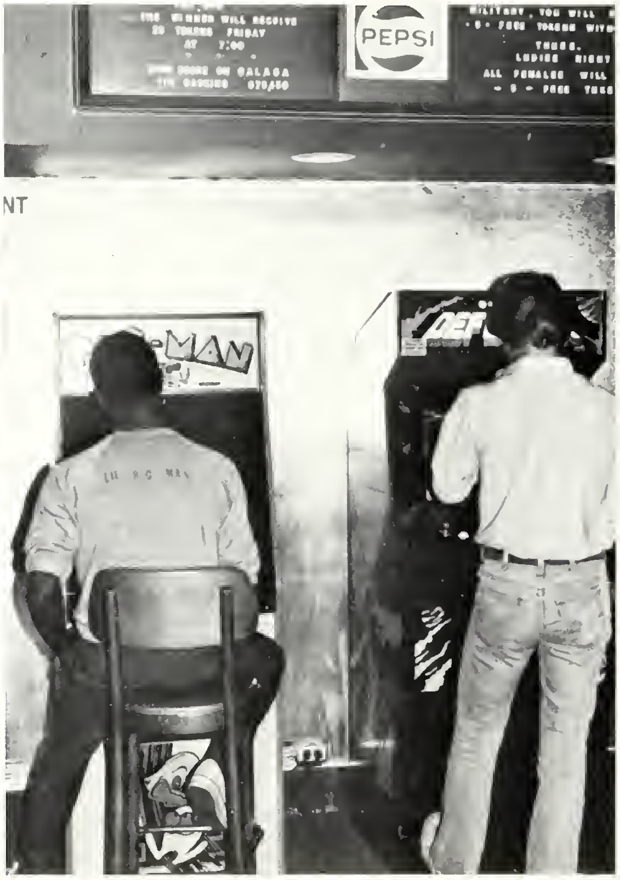
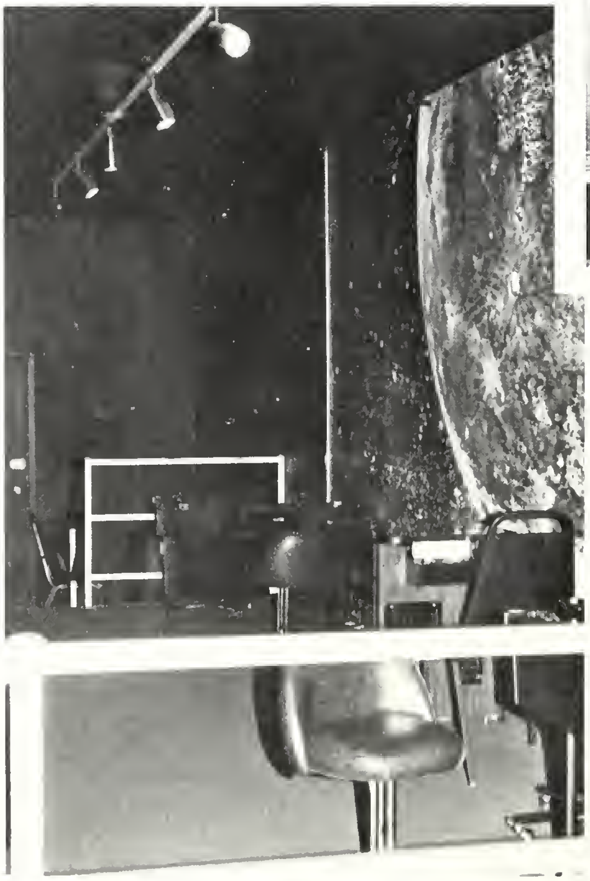
If you can eat here, congratulations! The food here is for students with little money, but who have big ambitions for eating somewhere else other than the cafeteria.

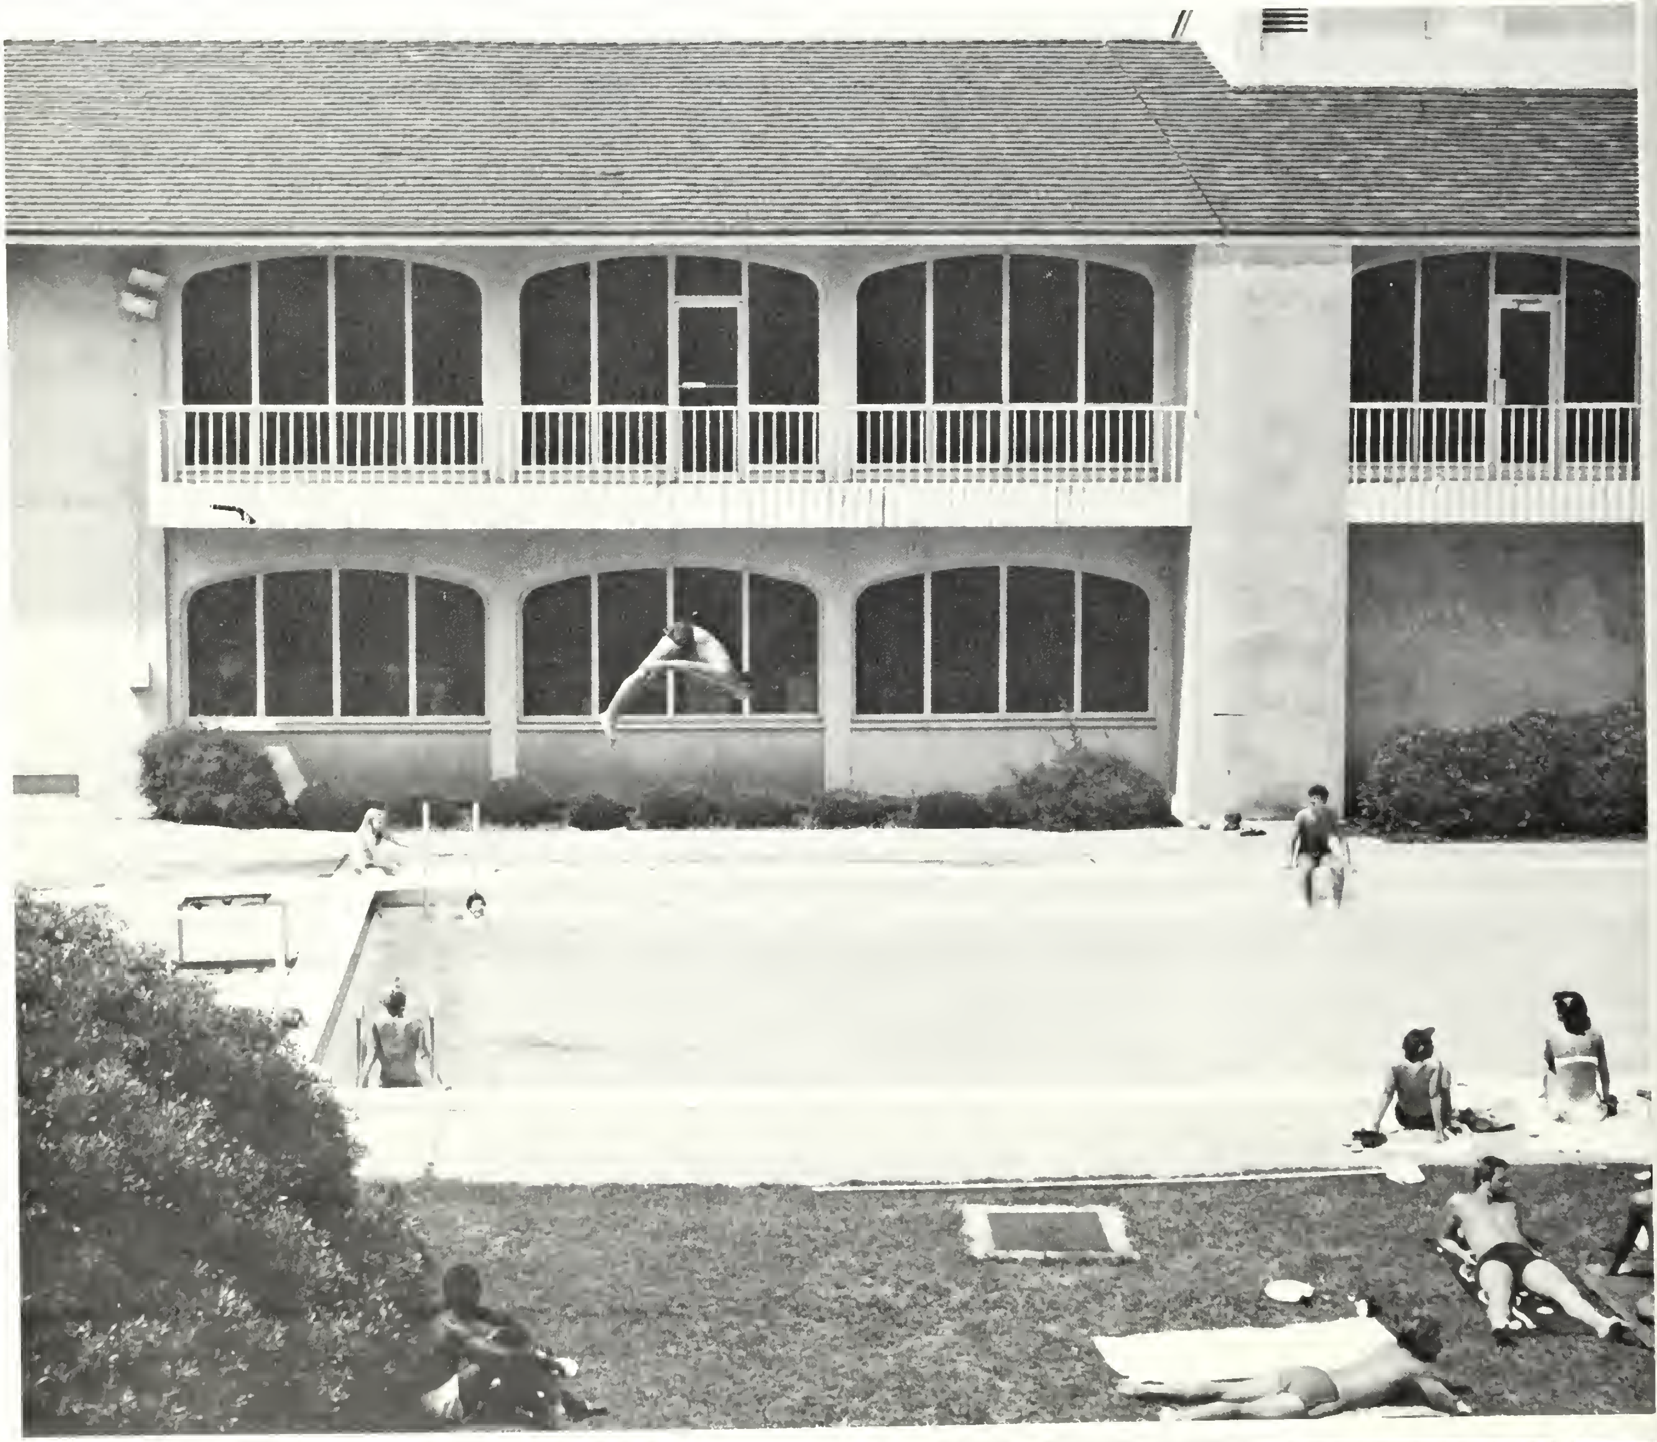
VIDEO PHENOMENON





What does a student do when he cannot cope with the studious lifestyle anymore? He goes to the neighborhood gameroom and spends his life savings.

WEEKENDS AT V.S.C.



Starting on Thursdays the campus clears out like the yearly migration of birds flying south for the winter. You can actually find a parking place on campus if you want to take a risk with the campus military police.

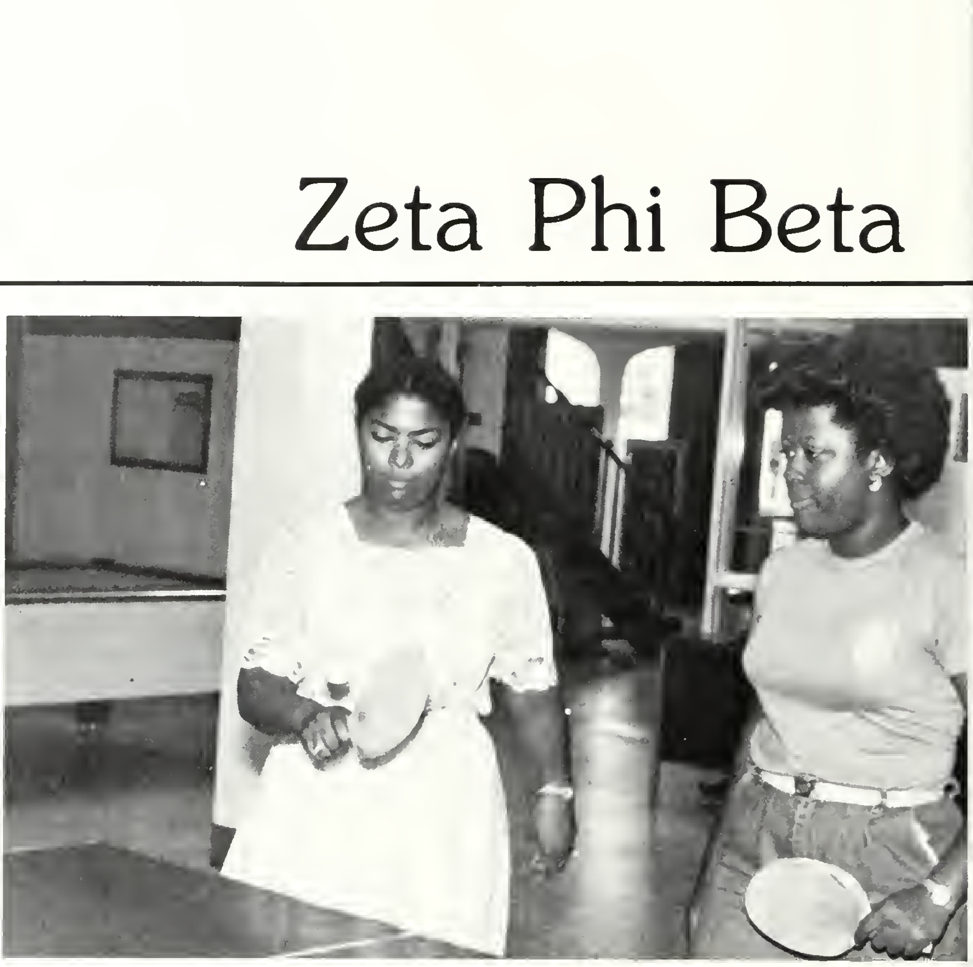
FOUNDED 1914

The Phi Beta Sigma fraternity, Inc. is an international organization of college and professional men. It was founded in 1914 at Howard University. Being both a service and social organization, Phi Beta Sigma has many programs in the areas of education, social action, and business.

The VSC Chapter has become involved in all facets of the school and community. Their success can be expressed in the words of their fraternity hymn, "Our Cause, Speeds on its way.

Zeta Phi Beta



ΖΦΒ

Zeta Phi Beta Sorority was organized at Howard University on January 16, 1920, as a result of the encouragement given the five founders by members of the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity. The objectives are finer womanhood, sisterly love, scholarship, and service. National Theme: "Zeta's working together: Rendering service to improve the human conditions."

Phi Mu

Phi Mu came to Valdosta State in May of 1965. Since this time, Phi Mus's have held the title of Greek Week Champions, TKE Frolic Champions, and Inter-mural Softball Champions. They have also won recognition in pageants such as Homecoming Queen, Miss Valdosta, Miss VSC, Georgia Watermelon Queen, and the Miss Georgia Pageant.

Phi Mu is special, with ladybugs and thinkin' pink, sunshine and friendship, studies, fraternity dances, dreams, and memories of rose and white carnations—these are all part of sisterhood in Phi Mu.

A Year In Sports
at Valdosta State College
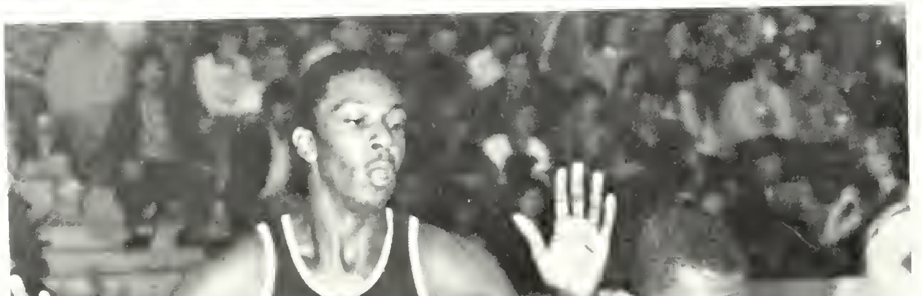
1981-82

Valdosta State College offers a wide range of athletic activities both for the participant and the spectator. This brochure is designed to give a brief overview of sports at VSC. Your involvement in and patronage of these vital, exciting athletic functions are encouraged and appreciated.

VSC Blazers



Blazer Basketball

1981-82 Blazer Basketball wasn't up to the school's usual standard of excellence, but it was nonetheless a better than average season. Coach James Dominey's Blazers compiled a 14-12 overall record and a 6-2 mark in the South Atlantic Conference, good enough for a second place finish. The winning record of 14-12 marked the 22nd consecutive year that Valdosta State has finished above the .500 mark in men's basketball.

LADY BLAZERS

Under the guidance of new head coach Charles Cooper, Valdosta State Lady Blazer basketball returned to the success it enjoyed during its first five years of existence. The Lady Blazers finished the season with a solid 16-8 record, playing a challenging schedule that featured 16 of the 24 games on the road.

Valdosta State was ranked 10th in the nation in the final NCAA Division II poll, and with much of last season's team returning the Lady Blazers are anxiously awaiting 1982-83.

Blazer Baseball

1982 was a record-setting season for Valdosta State Baseball. The Blazers won their fourth straight South Atlantic Conference championship, winning a record 49 games in the process. Coach Tommy Thomas, completing his 15th season as head coach, won his 500th career game midway through the season as Valdosta State overcame a slow start to finish strong at 49-22.

Like the rest of the VSC sports program, Blazer Baseball is ready for the challenge of a new conference, the Gulf South, which the college officially entered July 1.

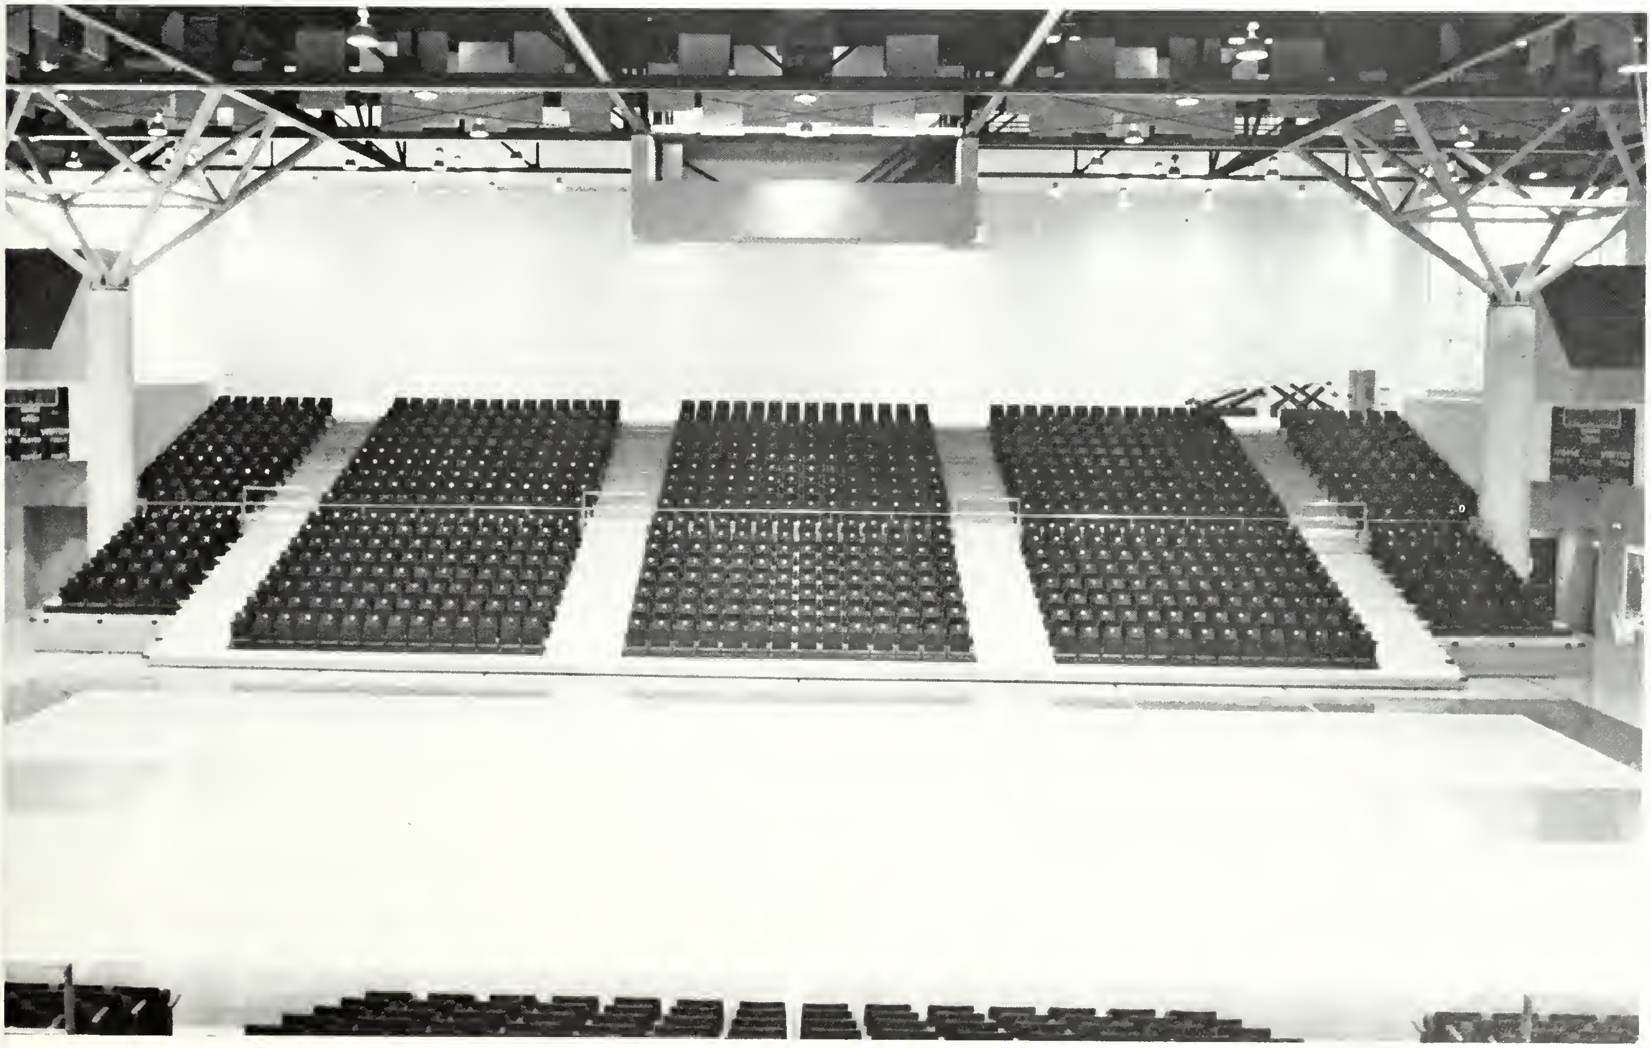
A Goal Realized

A Need . . .



. . . fulfilled.

"The opening of the new Physical Education Complex brings to fruition years of dreaming, planning and hard work by many friends of the College and members of its staff. The splendid new facilities will provide opportunities for greater service to all South Georgia, and enable Valdosta State to do a better job in fulfilling its service mission. We hope that the facility will be used extensively, and that the lives of many will be richer and fuller because it was created."

Dr. Hugh Bailey, Valdosta State College President

Even though the film jammed in the camera at first, the Milestones photographer and People Editor enjoyed the photo session at the Baileys'. Dr. Bailey kneeled in front of his wife in a lighthearted gesture, Mrs. Bailey demonstrated her talents in arranging flowers. Laura, the youngest of the Baileys' two daughters, played several lovely pieces on the piano. Debbie, the oldest daughter, a copy of Marco Polo in hand, showed us several of her award-winning paintings. Of course, the day was not complete until a few dandelions were blown into the gentle summer breeze.

Dr. Ronald Barnette, Acting Vice President

The Barnettes' home was a beautiful setting for a family photography session. Dr. Barnette, philosophy professor and acting vice president at VSC, showed us his well-stocked library where he often "contemplates the forms." Mrs. Barnette, a writer, has been diligently working on a manuscript. We soon found out that she was a fabulous decorator as we toured the spacious, historic rooms which Mrs. Barnette planned and arranged herself. Blair and Becky, the daughters, showed off their new kittens. Becky posed with her favorite stuffed animals and Blair read a passage from her novel. The day was made complete as the Barnettes took a dip in their backyard pool, emitting fun-filled, California smiles.

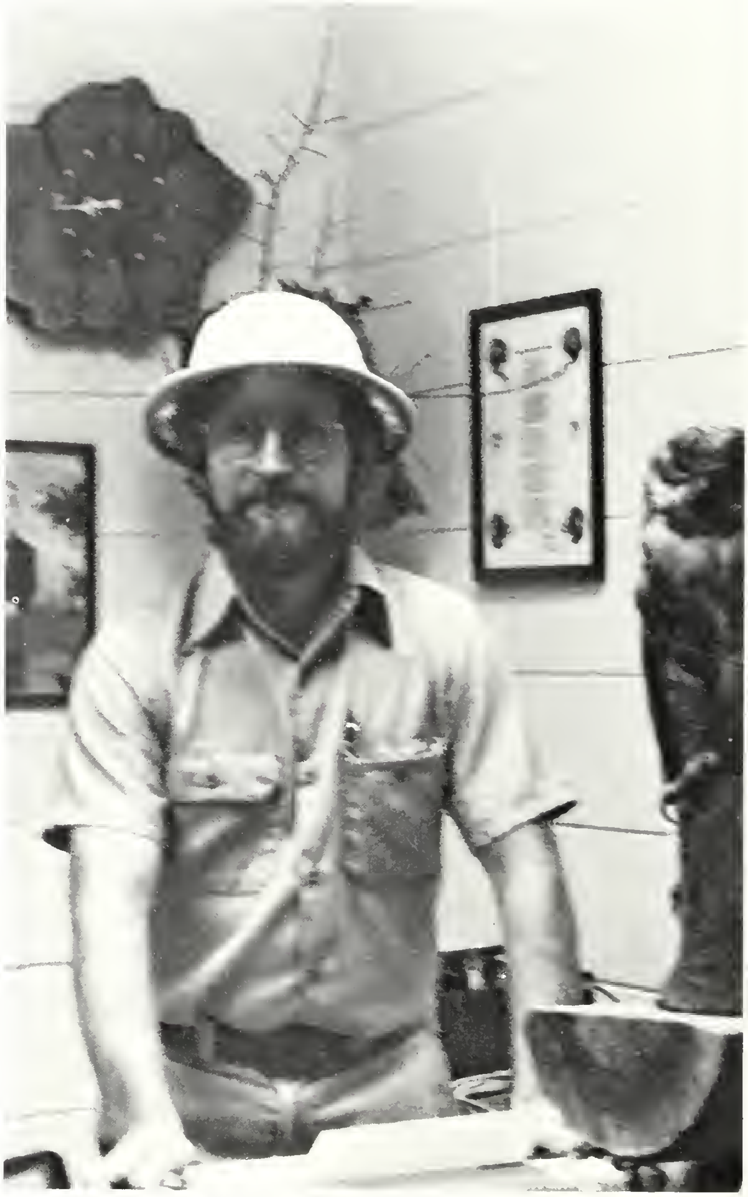
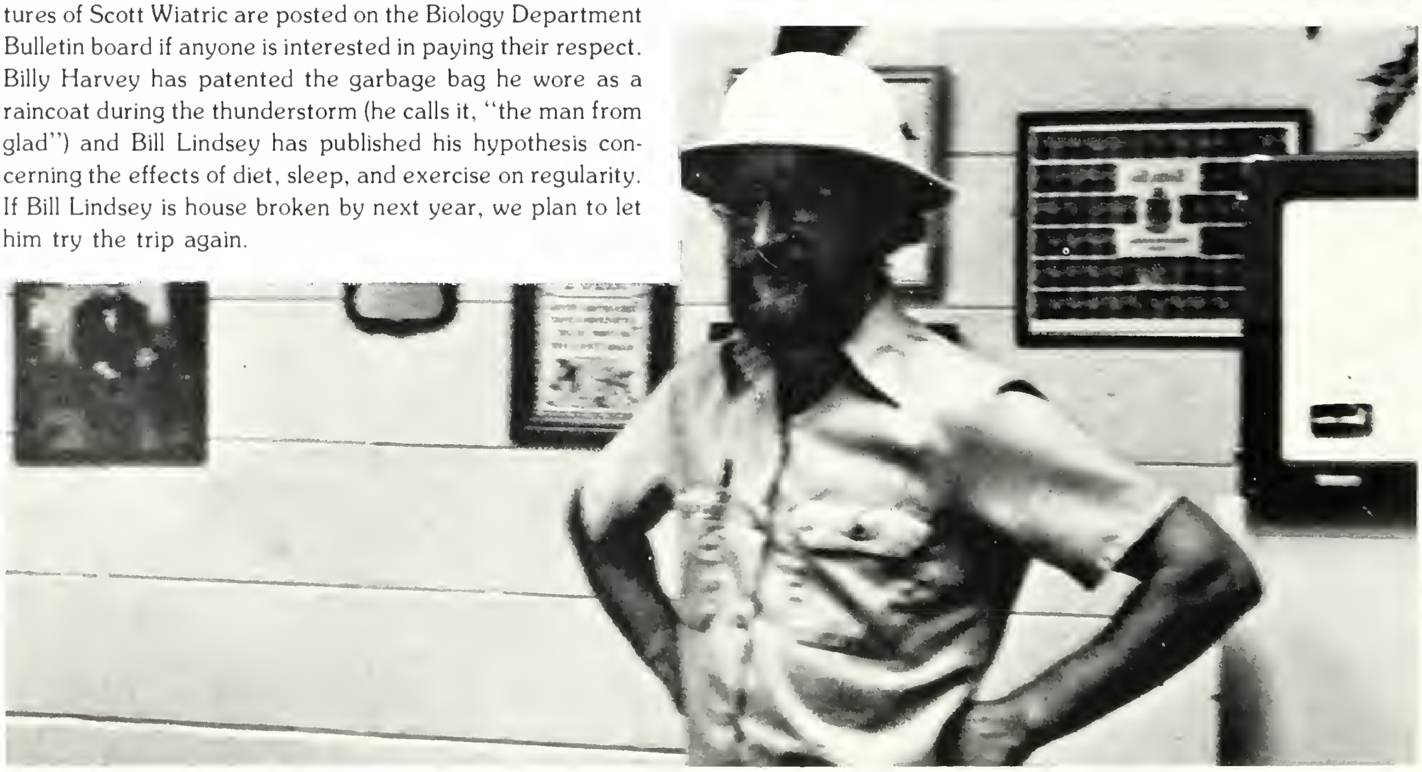
This year Milestones decided to give VSC students a piece of their professors minds. Twelve learned men and women were selected at random and were asked to compose an amusing, satiric, or interesting article to be placed with their respective pictures in the yearbook. So now take a look behind the faces and into the minds of . . . our FEATURE TEACHERS!

Biology — Dr. William H. Cribbs

When the Milestones staff said "write an amusing paragraph" I am sure that they did not know how sore and aching every muscle in my body was at the time. A group of twenty students, mostly Biology majors, and I had recently returned from a thirty-two mile canoe trip through the Okefenokee Swamp. A quick survey of the group would doubtlessly confirm that the Gluteus maximus was the sorest muscle for most of the group due to the rigors of sitting on a canoe seat for three days. Second to this is eye strain from searching for snakes and alligators. I can not recall anything unusual or amusing about the trip unless you consider the incident where Pat Stephens fell out of the canoe and allowed us to record the second incident of someone walking on water. Of casual interest was the case where Robert Mullican and Jay Adkins found themselves close enough to an alligator to floss his teeth. Steve Jones' demonstration of swamp survival techniques was somewhat marred when he attempted to take a shower during a rain storm and the rain stopped while he was shampooing. Ron Corbitt's ankle has almost recovered from being hit by a canoe paddle . . . Richard Urssery thought Ron's ankle was a night prowling raccoon. The hospital informed us today that Eric Guice's blood pressure is back to normal after his transfusion. Get Eric to tell you about Okefenokee mosquitoes. Several members of the group got beautifully clear pictures of Richard Martin and Scott Wiatric as they sank in the Quagmire so often called "Trembling earth". Several would-be photographers missed some excellent snapshots because Scott sank so fast. We managed to pull Richard back to safety . . . duplicate pictures of Scott Wiatric are posted on the Biology Department Bulletin board if anyone is interested in paying their respect. Billy Harvey has patented the garbage bag he wore as a raincoat during the thunderstorm (he calls it, "the man from glad") and Bill Lindsey has published his hypothesis concerning the effects of diet, sleep, and exercise on regularity. If Bill Lindsey is house broken by next year, we plan to let him try the trip again.





Speech & Drama — Dr. Vonne Meussling

It's the students that show their appreciation with "warm fuzzy" hugs that make VSC so unique. Our Public Relations students are receptive to learning and they show an eager desire to attain the experience in the professional field that will help them with that first entry level position.

Note:
This is Dr. Meussling's last year at VSC. Milestones wishes her the best of luck in the future and many happy interpersonal relationsips.

Physics — Dr. Dennis Marks

In order to decrease the time wasted in the classroom and to provide more time for the important things in life, here are Ten Terrific Tenets of Total Truth:

1. The Earth is flat; any fool can see that.

2. The world was created in six days beginning at 6:00 a.m., Sunday, October 23, 4004 B.C.

3. The evolution of species is a preposterous idea; we humans never act like animals.

4. Babies are brought into the world by storks, who wrap them up in cabbage leaves; the cabbage leaves are then served in the cafeteria.

5. Alcohol, tobacco, and pot are beneficial to our health; they result in a clear head, clear lungs, and clear vision.

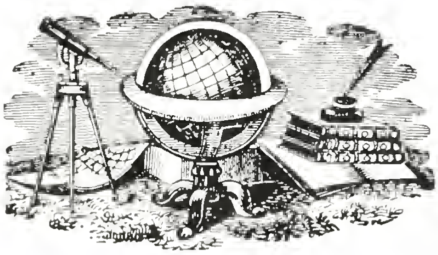
6. Music, art, and drama are dull and worthless; it is not important to explore who we are.

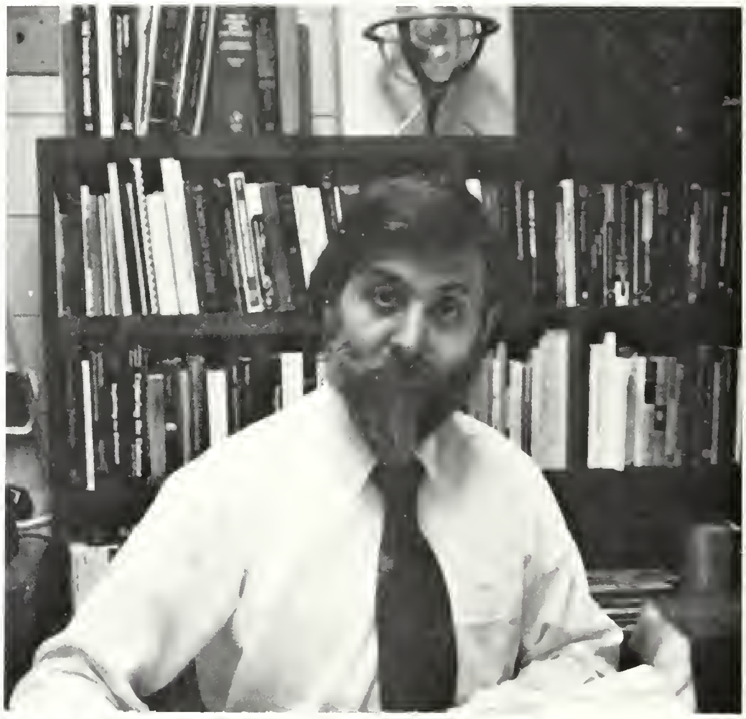
7. Ignorance of science is a blissful state; it is better to be hungry, sick, weak, or dead than to understand genetics, biochemistry, physics, or math.

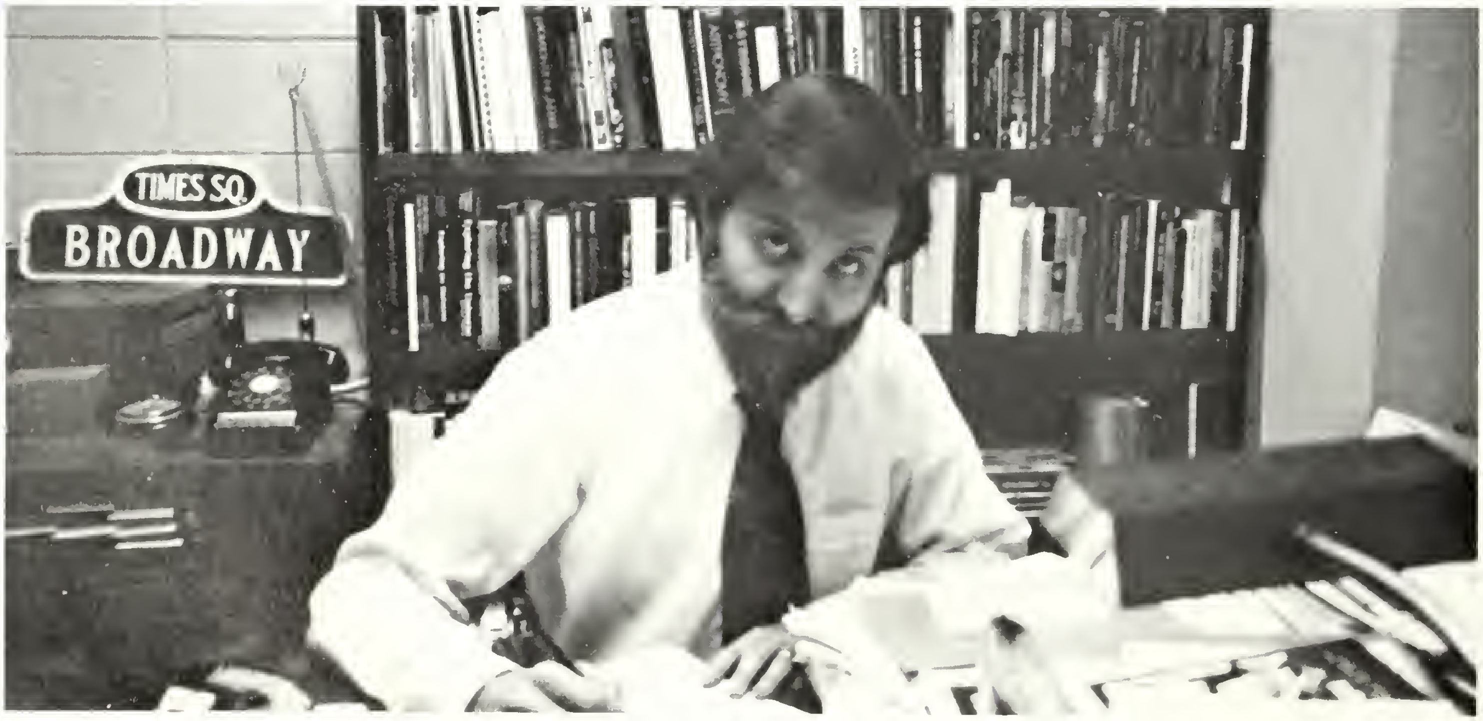
8. Nuclear power is bad, but nuclear bombs are good; if we can't trust the power company, we certainly can't trust the Commies.

9. In a nuclear war, someone else will die instead of us; we are never the victims of our own stupidity.

10. The best way to improve the quality of life is to kill all living organisms; who needs fire ants, rattlesnakes, whales, doves, orphans, felons, Russians, or ourselves?







Art — Irene Dodd

It is a joy to share my experience and information with students. When I believe something or know it works, I can with more certainty and enthusiasm communicate this information to others. This is like sowing seed: What the students learn by knowledge or "catch" by exposure to my attitudes depends on their receptivity, commitment, and discipline.

I am concerned about finding ways to incite students to learn and apply knowledge to experience. Techniques and historical facts serve as the tools. Only when these are used in instances new to the individual can learning, I believe, really take place. One of my desires is that information learned in such classes as Art 200 or Art 105, Art History 360 or 361 will greatly broaden a student's appreciation of historical and contemporary ideas and forms. In studio classes we go outside frequently—to make the countryside our laboratory and to test and apply principles explained in the classroom.

Since my conversion to Christ in 1973, I have experienced great joy, and I have new insight into teaching and my painting. It is a challenge each day to share these with anyone who has a desire to hear and apply them.

Education — Dr. Robert Trautmann

I plan to start a new college in Valdosta. Each instructor hired must first pass this Qualifying test.

Instructions: Read each question carefully. Answer all questions.
Time Limit: 4 hours
Begin Immediately . . .

History
Describe the history of the papacy from its origin to the present day, concentrating especially, but not exclusively, on its social, political, economic, religious, and philosophical impact on Europe, Asia, America and Africa. Be brief, concise and specific.

Medicine
You have been provided with a razor blade, a piece of gauze and a bottle of Scotch. Remove your appendix. Do not suture until your work has been inspected. You have fifteen minutes.

Public Speaking
2,500 riot-crazed aborigines are storming the classroom. Calm them. You may use any ancient language except Latin or Greek.

Biology
Create life. Estimate the difference in subsequent human culture, if this life had developed 500 million years earlier, with special attention to its probable effect on the English Parliamentary System. Prove your thesis.

Music
Write a piano concerto. Orchestrate and perform it with flute and drum. You will find a piano under your seat.

Psychology
Based on your knowledge of their works, evaluate the emotional stability, degree of adjustment, and repressed frustrations of each of the following: Alexander of Aphrodisias, Ramses II, Gregory of Niece, Hammurabi. Support your evaluation with quotations from each man's work.

Sociology
Estimate the sociological problems which accompany the end of the world. Construct an experiment to test your theory.

Engineering
The disassembled parts of a high-powered rifle have been placed on your desk. You will find an instruction manuel, printed in Swahili. In ten minutes a hungry Bengal tiger will be admitted to the room. Take whatever action you feel appropriate. Be prepared to justify your decision.

Economics
Develop a realistic plan for refinancing the national debt. Trace the possible effects of your plan in the following areas; Cubism, the Donatist Controversy, the wave theory of light. Outline a method for preventing these effects. Criticize this method from all possible points of view. Point out the deficiencies in your point of view, as demonstrated in your answer to the last question.

Political Science
There is a red telephone on the desk beside you. Start World War III. Report at length on its socio-political effects, if any.

Epistemology
Take a position for or against truth. Prove the validity of your position.

Physics
Explain the nature of matter. Include in your answer an evaluation of the impact of the development of mathematics on science.

Philosophy
Sketch the development of human thought; estimate its significance. Compare with the development of any other kind of thought.

General Knowledge (All)
Describe in detail. Be objective and specific.

English — Dr. Trent Busch

MUSIC FOR WESTERN SINGERS or Heartbreak, Country Style

Blue ain't the word for the way that I feel cause you've grown tired and no longer care (O beware of a tall dark stranger) for me, but I can't stop loving you—I've made up my mind—and I can't see me without you.

So it's crying time again, you're gonna leave me with only these few million tears I cried, though I tried so hard, my dear, to show that you're my only dream. Did my ring hurt your finger when you went out at night? Born to lose—I've lived my life in vain—and I'm so lonesome I could cry.

The easy part's over now and you are gone. So
lose, but someday you'll be lonesome too and your cheating heart will tell on you going ninety miles an hour down a dead end street.

You brought me shame and disgrace, ought to take a rope and hang you, but you're so sexy looking and just as lovely as you used to be. Why don't you love me like you used to do and act naturally cause my daddy was a pistol and I'm a son-of-a-gun and I can't help it if I'm still in love with you.

People still ask me if I still love you; I don't know,
I can't say except it comes every morning and goes all night once a day, every day, all day long, and there goes my only possession which I let slip right through my hand.

Hello, darling, tell Laura I love her; has anyone seen the most beautiful girl with eleven or thirteen roses cause silver threads and golden needles could not tie her heart to mine with no crystal chandeliers or fancy clothes for her to wear.

At my door leaves were falling yesterday when I was young;
I never got over those blue eyes—what's he doing in my world—I'll never love brown eyes again, and she was woman enough to take this man.

Over, nobody wins, and it's my belief pride is the chief cause in the decline, but blue eyes are cryin' in the rain and I wish I could stop this D-I-V-O-R-C-E—come back, darling, I'll be waiting for you.

Education — Dr. Rosalie Allison

We have no rats at VSC (I refer to four legged ones although there are times I wonder if an amputation has taken place). Ever been in a class when one of these furry friends runs into the room??? Might as well call class off because no one is going to pay any attention to Piagets theory when their hair is on end and their feet under their " " "seat" " ". Dogs too can be a problem (four legged ones). Dogs, however, that visit VSC all seem to be friendly and in search of an education. (Wish I could say the same about the two legged dogs!!!). With the new no-window buildings we have done away with the bee-in-the-class problem. We are still confronted with an occasional roach or spider but so far — no rats at VSC (four legged ones).

Developmental Studies—Dr. Joe Daniels

Humorous situations occur in the classroom at times when they are least expected. During my early years as a teacher, some students tried my patience as often as they possible could.

One day I was deeply involved in explaining an important grammatical concept to a group of intensely attentive students. In the middle of my "no less than expert" presentation, a male student raised his hand in such a manner that I thought his world would stop if I did not recognize him. Thinking that he had a question concerning the content of the day's lesson, I asked the student what he was concerned about at this time. The following dialogue records the verbal transaction between student and teacher.

Student: Teach, I have a question for you.

Teacher: Great! I have all the answers.

Student: What part of the girl doesn't move when she does the twist?

(I might say here that as the teacher of this group, I knew that I had had it. I was too far in to get out. My mind was asking, "How did this student possibly think of the twist during a discussion of dangling participles?" I could do nothing but proceed with the student's question.)

Teacher: I do not know what part of the girl does not move when she does the twist. But I am sure you are about to tell me.

Student: Her BOWELS!

(There is complete silence in the class because the students do not know how I am going to react. Neither do I, but my mind roves to the conclusion: "Do not make a big deal out of this situation! Some student in the future will catch me again. With a big sigh, I begin my reply.)

Teacher: Well, David, the way some girls do the twist, it is a wonder that the bowels don't move too.

(All the students, including the qustioner thought my answer to be cool. Everybody laughed. When calm returned to the class, I proceeded with dangling participles. I asked myself silently, "Is there really a relationship between dangling participles and bowels? If there is, my education is certainly incomplete.")

History — Dr. Louis Schmier

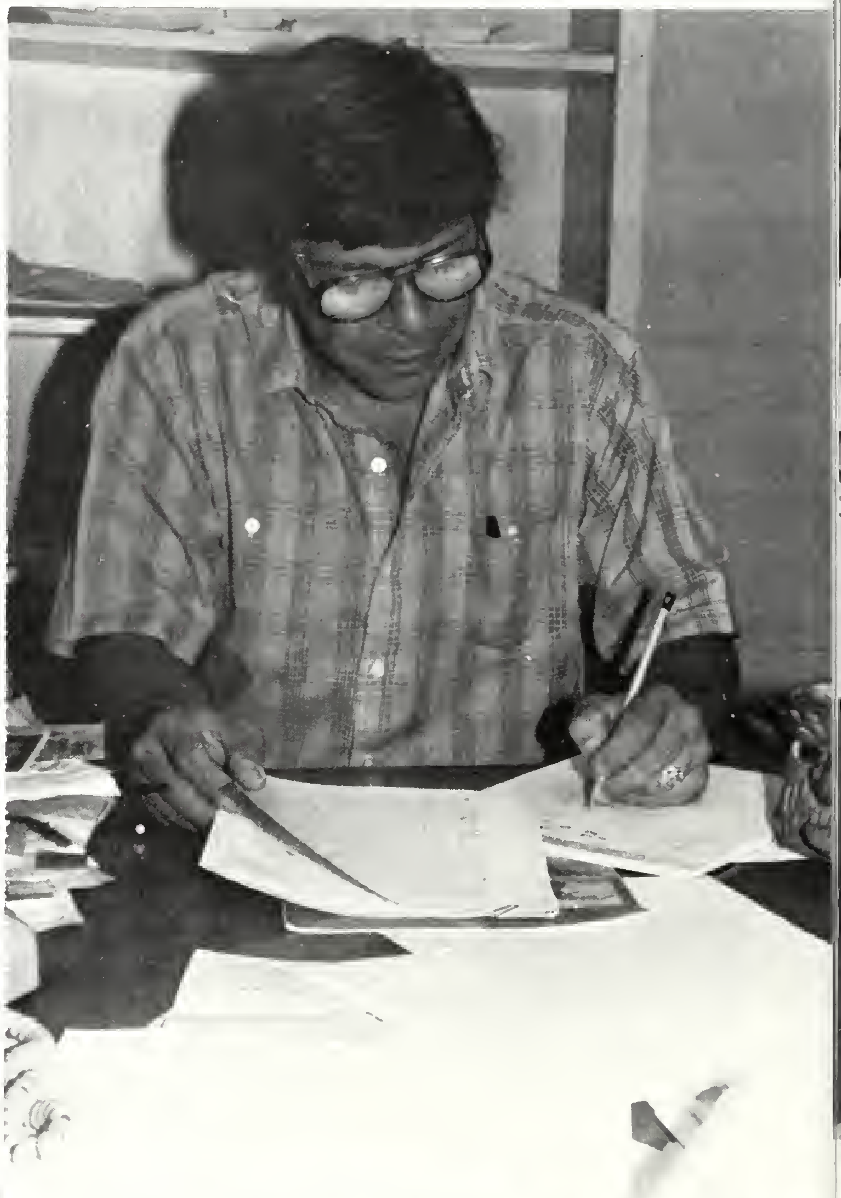
Confessions of a Professor

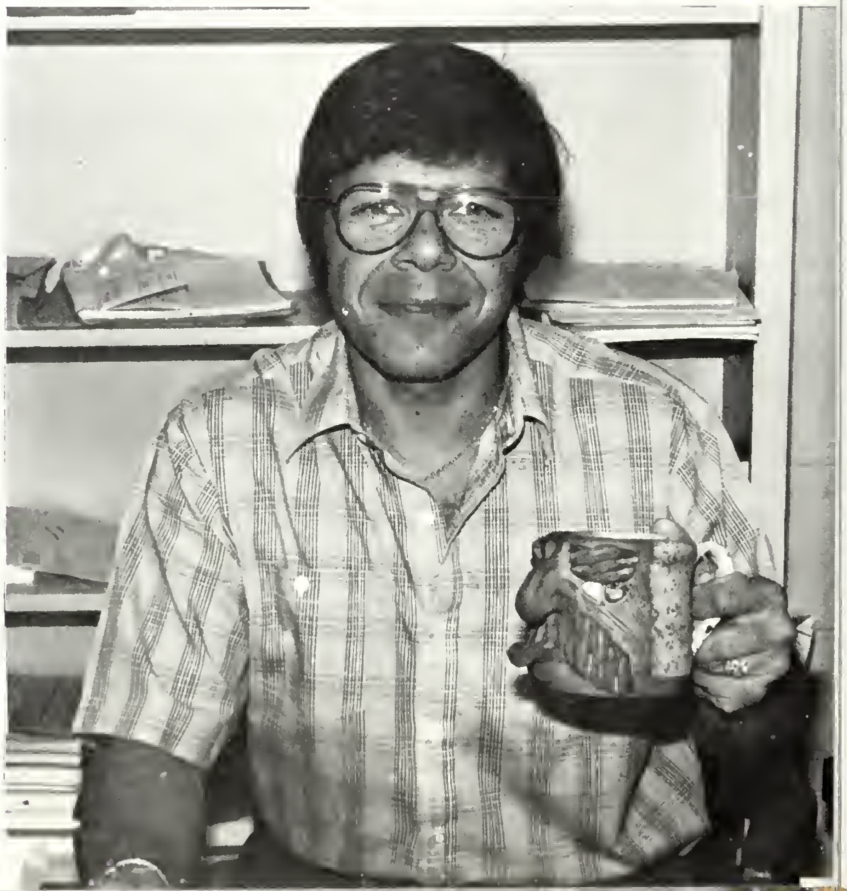
Hey kids, who said college should be all work and no play? If he was one of your profs, he probably has forgotten his merry days among the halls of ivy and he was dead! Maybe he still is! Anyhow, I am telling you my confessions to demonstrate that some of us profs are human and that there is still a chance for you to get through the tortures of college with a smile on your face.

Let's see, what's the best way to start. I guess I should tell you that I was in such hot water that not only was I voted "Joker" of the class of 1962 at Adelphi College, but I had a chair in the Dean of Student's office on constant reserve for me. One suggestion was made to engrave my name on it.

Among some of my lesser pranks was the time I restrung the squashteam's captain's racket with look-alike thread—it didn't do much for his game against Hofstra College, or his sense of humor for that matter. Then, there was the time I placed a live frog among the dead ones after I had replaced the formaldehyde with swamp water and watched a startled freshman hop rythmically along with the frog. Or, how about the time I and four others set up a still in an organic chemistry lab that ran from 9:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. at night. It was discovered one morning after a janitor was found in restful bliss after we had inadvertently left some samples on the lab table. The one I liked the best was when I attached a near-invisible wire to the probiscus of an ugly sandworm, stretched the wire to the other side of the dissection table and waited. We had to revive the girl who had fainted after she had stuck the knife awkwardly into the worm and I pulled the wire. She wouldn't date me. I couldn't understand why! I also couldn't understand why I had to pay for the dissection pan. Just because of the little hole I had drilled through which I had strung the wire. Perhaps the best was the one that was unintentional. It certainly got me in the most trouble. No one believed my pleadings of innocence. You know, reputation and all that. Well, anyway, it was in Comparative Anatomy class. We had a wierd prof who didn't believe in using formaldehyde-preserved rats. We had to dissect fresh field rats after we had killed them ourselves. The techniques of execution were simple. Either we grabbed the squealing rat and crushed its head with our foot or we whirled it around it around and whipped its neck against the corner of the lab bench. I preferred to swing with the rat. I grabbed the poor thing by its tail, whirled and whirled around as if I were David whirling my Slingshot, and then the rat slipped out of my hands. It went sailing across the lab—in a beautiful arch and landed firmly on the right shoulder of Beth Johnson. (I still remember her name.) Poor girl! We heard a blood curdling scream, saw a blur move with the speed of light, heard a crash and silence. We never did see Beth or the rat again. But, we did not need a new entrance-way to the lab. Did I catch it for that mistake.

And when I graduated, I am almost sure I heard a sigh of relief mixed in with the applause. It's all true!!!

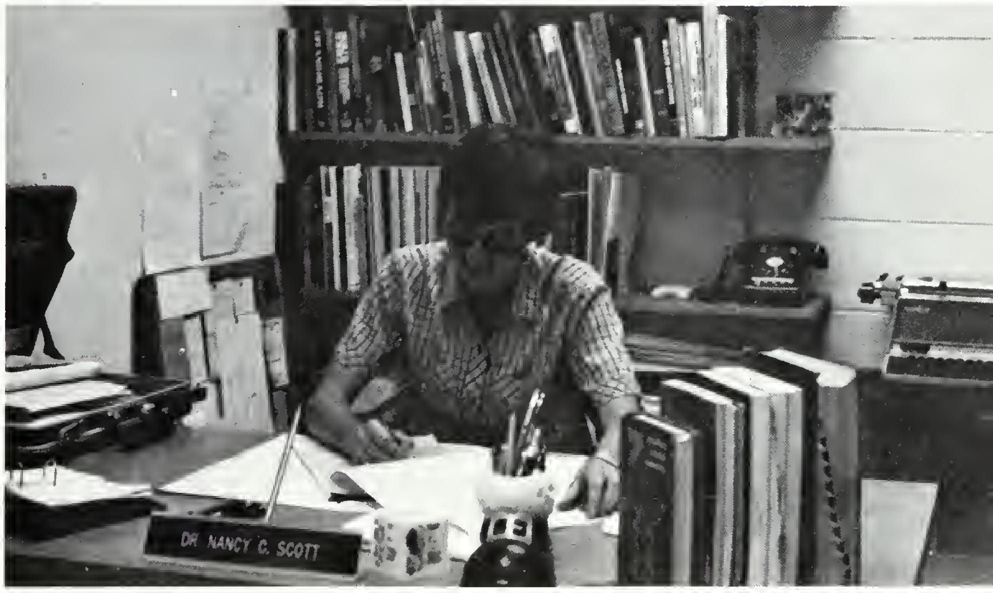


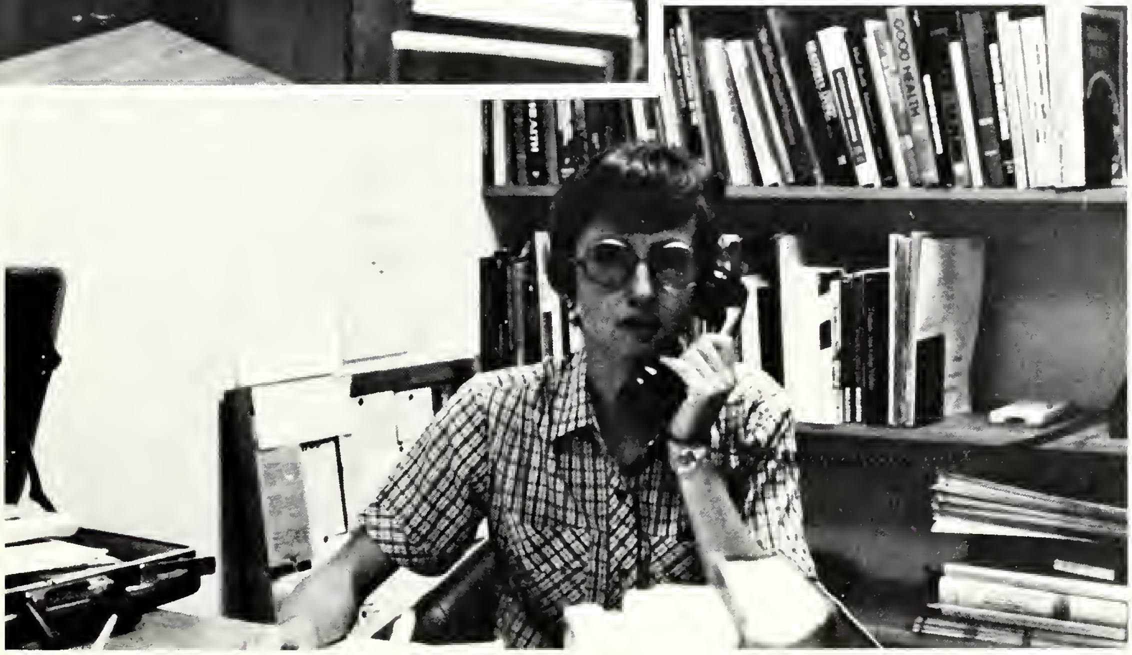


Physical Education — Dr. Nancy Scott

Reflections:

"No, Amy, tourniquets are not applied around the victim's neck." "These are all the points I get on this workshop? I stayed up all night doing the projects!" "Why is Health 300 always taught at 8 a.m.?" "We've always heard you were a tough teacher. Is that really true?" "You mean you expect us to be in class every day . . . and on time?" "They're called 'manikins,' Mac, not 'dummies.' " "I want to sign up for this field hockey course. Isn't that the class in which you ride a horse?" "You've got to be kidding! Are we really going to take a field trip to a funeral home?"





Note: 1982 is Dr. Scott's last year at VSC. Milestones is sure that any student who has ever had Dr. Scott for Health 200 will never forget how to save a dummy's life.

Modern Foreign Language — Dr. Jose B. Fernandez

Once, many years ago when I first came to VSC and my English was not so good as now, I was explaining how to pronounce the vowels in Spanish to one of my elementary classes. We who speak Spanish have trouble distinquishing between the sounds in English represented by the letters "B" and "V." To us, they both sound like B's. So here I am in class saying the Spanish have large, round, open "bowels," and the students would laugh every time. Fortunately, Dr. Evans in the English Department came by and told me the difference between "bowels" and "vowels," and now I have no more problems. (But don't ask me to give you a sheet of paper.)

Management — Howard L. Lincoln

Thoughts . . .

This will be a closed-book, no notes, single-effort, short-answer test — with no appeals for the Fifth Amendment: Answer yes or no: "Have you stopped cheating on my tests?"

I am a Creationist — I do not believe that man evolved from the ape — no ape could have possibly messed up the economy as thoroughly as man has. . . . .

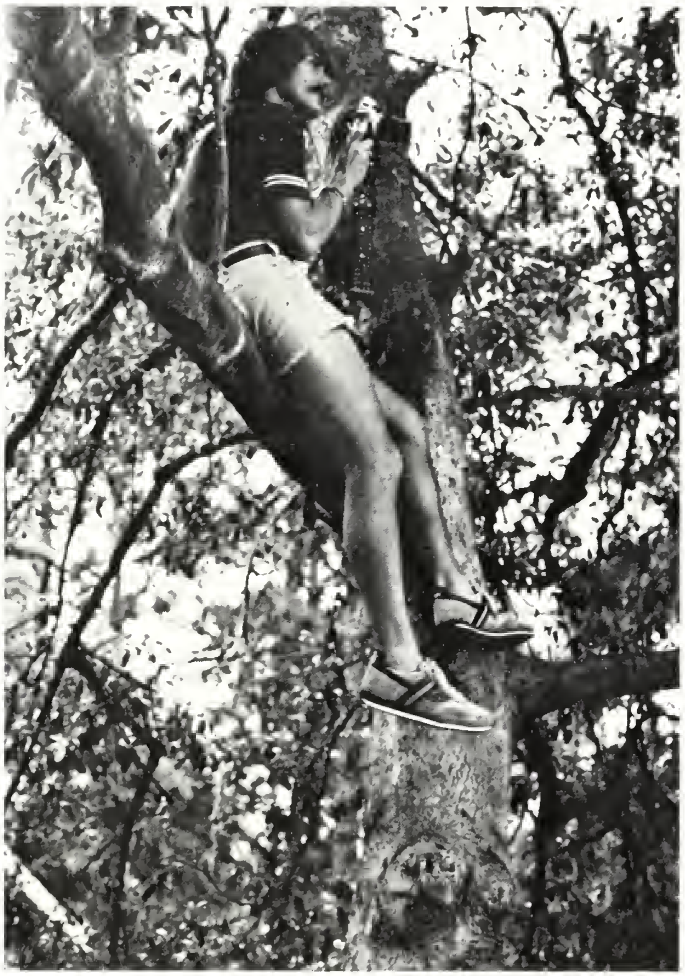
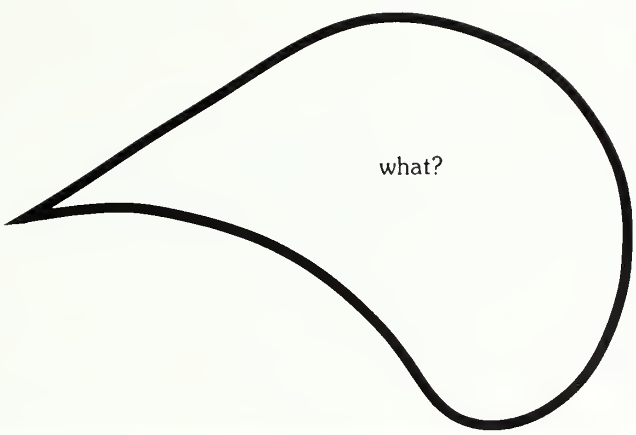
well, kid, after seeing and experiencing some of the highlights of college life, have you begun to get things straightened out?





what?
